

NASPGHAN FOUNDATION TERI LI YOUNG EDUCATOR AWARD

The NASPGHAN Foundation Teri Li Young Educator Award recognizes individuals in the first phase of their professional career who have made an outstanding contribution to the field of pediatric gastroenterology, hepatology and/or nutrition through education scholarship

Criteria:

Candidates must be a NASPGHAN member in good standing, within ten (10) years of their 1st academic appointment. Please note: If the nominee's service time has not been continuous please document any leaves to demonstrate that he/she has been in an academic position less than 10 years. Similarly, if the nominee has held academic positions at more than one institution, the total number of years cannot exceed 10 years.

Nominees will be evaluated based on:

1. Design, implementation and/or evaluation of educational innovations such as a new method, process, approach, or technological application that provides a solution to a problem in medical education (degree of innovation, quality, scholarly approach, etc.)
2. Research activities in medical education (quality, quantity, funds received, etc.)
3. Teaching activities (quality, quantity, scholarly approach, etc.)
4. Mentorship and/or advisory activities (quality, quantity, scholarly approach, etc.)
5. Educational leadership and/or administration activities
6. Curriculum and/or program development activities (quality, quantity, scholarly approach, etc.)
7. Learner assessment and/or program evaluation activities (quality, quantity, scholarly approach, etc.)
8. Public dissemination of education scholarship, (presentation at meetings, etc.)
9. Scientific publications in medical education
10. Impact of the nominee's activities

Application Details

1. Nomination letter (1)
The nominee may solicit the letter or the nomination may be completed without applicants' knowledge. We ask that this letter speak to the selection criteria, including a clear statement about the nominee's achievements in relation to at least one of the criteria above and why he or she is being recommended.
2. Nominee's complete curriculum vitae